LIFE

In Hays High School Approves Of

Clyde W. Rothgeb

Seventeen years ago a young man who was very much interested in the lives of boys and girls arrived in Hays as a teacher. Today he is the Principal of the high school. To Clyde W. Rothgeb, the staff of the 1953 Indian Call proudly dedicate this book.

"Your untiring efforts to make school life a democratic way of life will never be forgotten. Your stress on preserving and promoting traditions that make Hays High different from every other high school will keep us loyal supporters of our alma mater."

—The Staff of '53

THREE ATTRACTIVE SENIOR GIRLS were honored as Homecoming Royalty midway in the game.

STUDENTS AND ALUMNI enjoyed the dance held after the game.

Homecoming: The Game Of The Season

During the half-time activities of the Hays High and Ellis game, Juanita Kobler was crowned queen of Homecoming with Linda McDowell and Gwendolyn Wynne as attendants. As the lights were turned out on the field, the pep club formed an H with the band and held flashlights while the band played the school song. A trumpet fanfare announced the arrival of the queen and her attendants. Preceding the game a snake dance wound its laughing and cheering way through Main Street and ended with a huge bonfire at the city auditorium. A dance was held following the game to which senior high school students and alumni were invited.

FROTHY NET AND GLITTERING SEQUINS gave the room a wonderland appearance as couples whirled around the silver tree.

SPARKLING RED PUNCH AND ICED CUPCAKES were served from a gaily decorated table.

Blue Lights and Mistletoe Accentuate the Christmas Formal

Silver paper, dancing blue lights, and jolly red-nosed snowmen set the scene for the annual Christmas formal. A silver-tinseled Christmas tree stood in the center of the floor. Midway in the evening's activities, punch and "Merry Christmas" cupcakes were served. Immediately following the intermission, the caroling choir opened the floor show by singing Christmas carols. A piano solo by C. Thomas Barr, a Christmas reading by Marilyn Mermis, and two songs by the girls' trio supplemented the event; after which, Mr. Miller. the custodian, was presented a gift by the dance committee for his cooperation throughout the year.

The long-awaited mistletoe dance climaxed the activities and brought the annual Christmas formal to a close.

FROSTY, THE SNOWMAN, played an important role in the decorations.

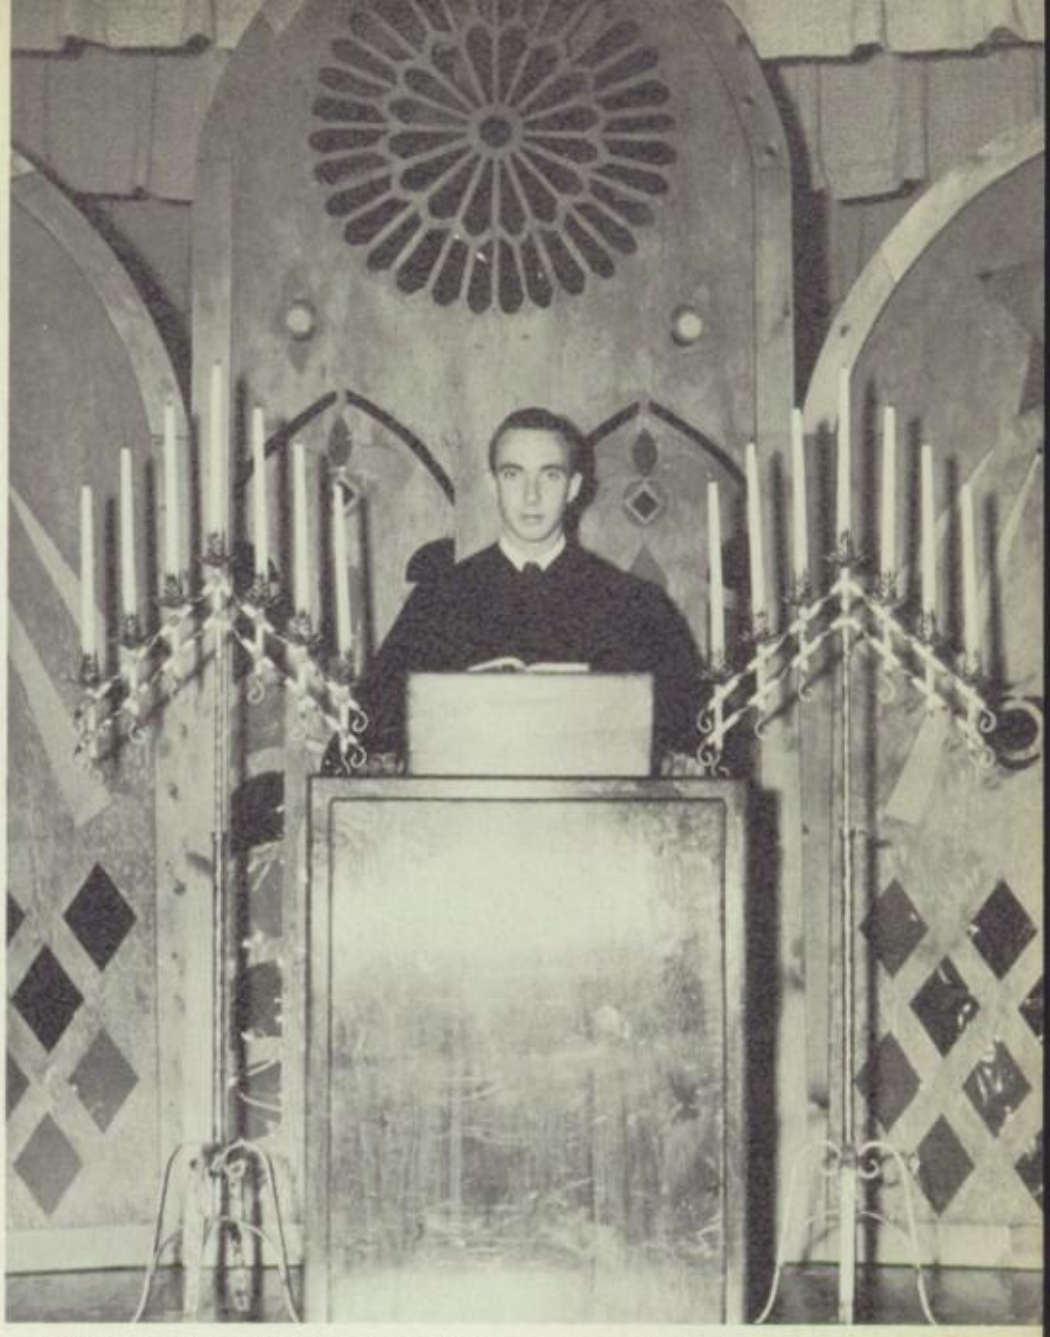
THE THREE WISE MEN, Eugene Gross, Albert Neylon, and Robert Johnson, presented their gifts as Mary, played by Gwendolyn Wynne, Joseph, played by Charles Evans, and three angels, Carolyn Sauer, Virginia Ward, and Virgie Binder looked on. The kneeling marching choir sang the response to the solos.

The Christmas Story Presented in Words and Music

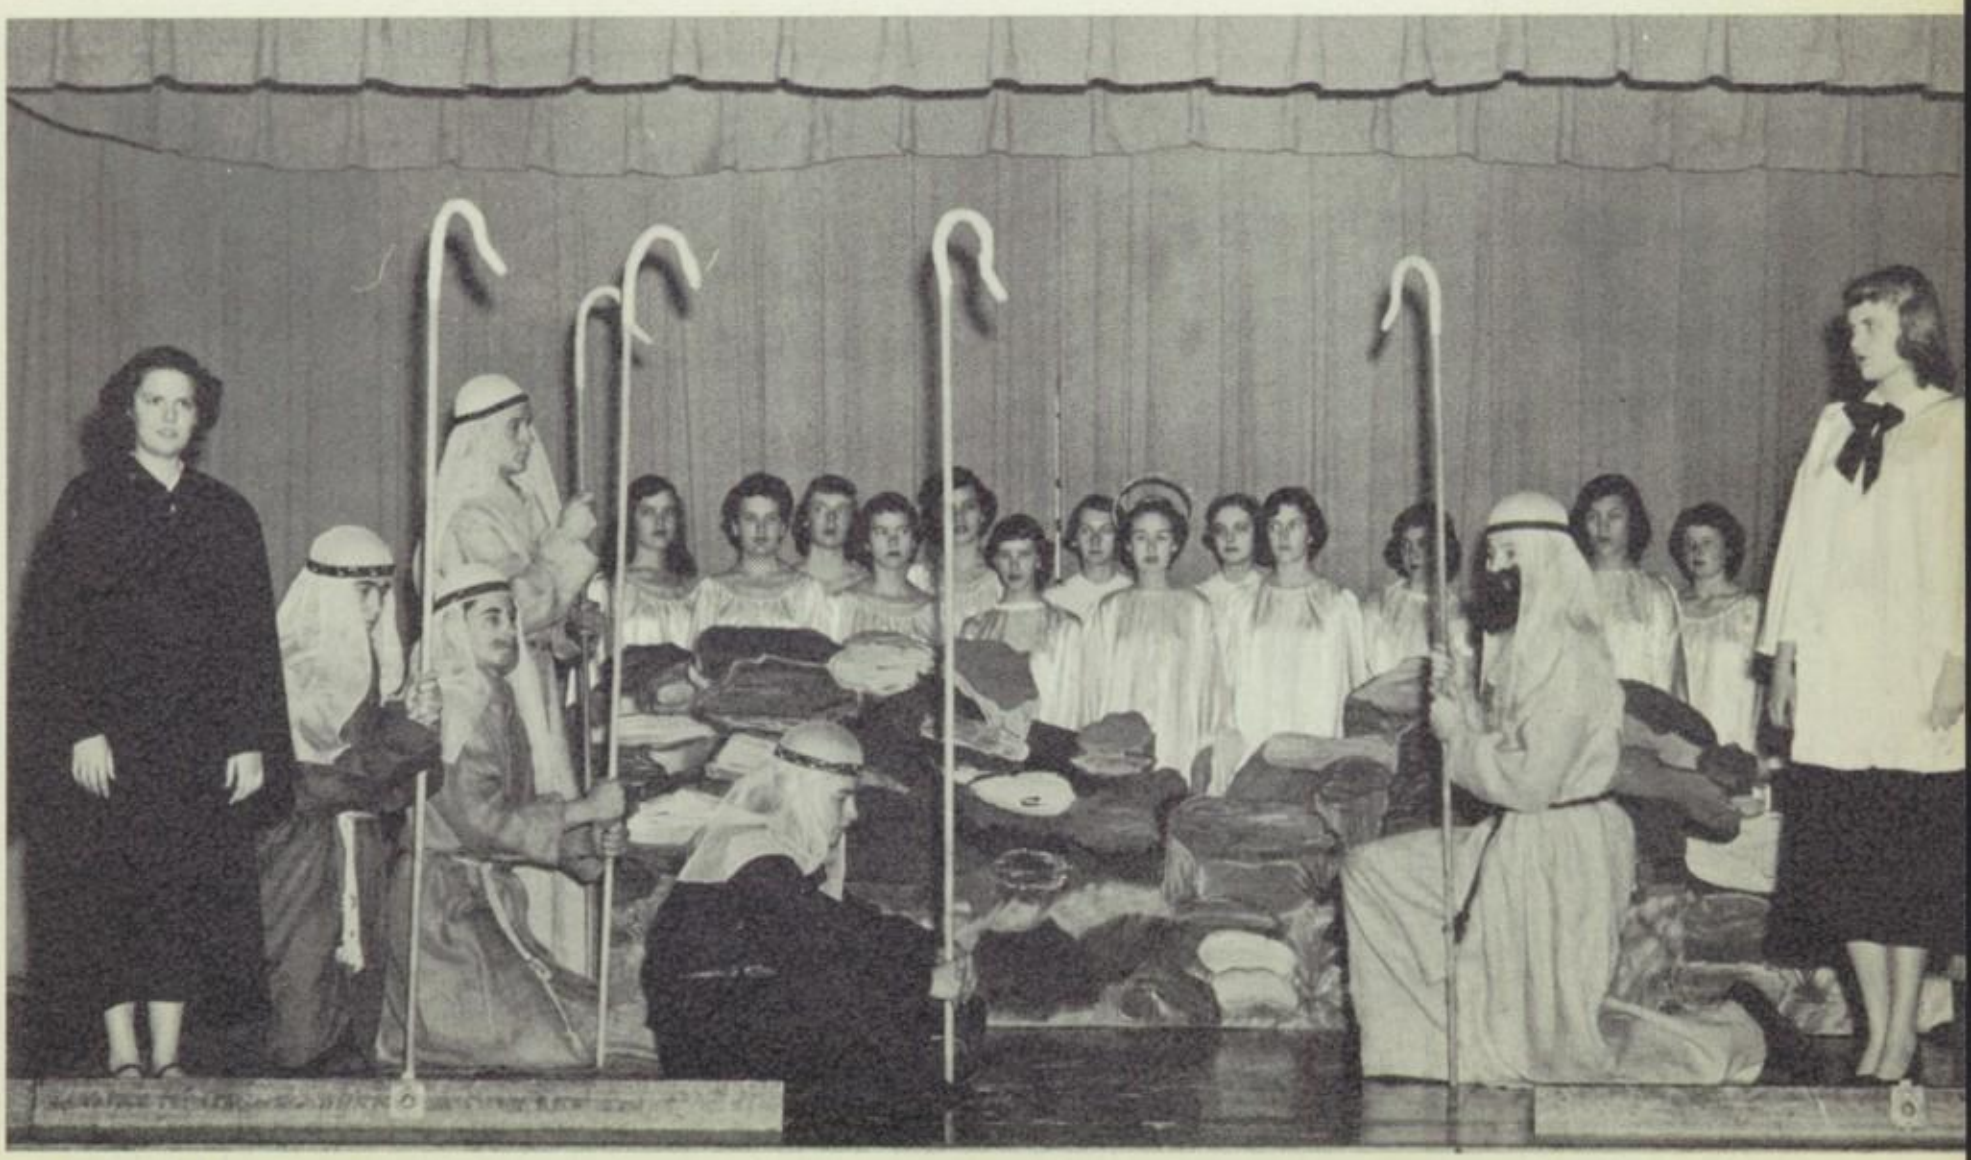
The melodious strains of Christmas music were blended into symphonious harmony as the senior high students presented the annual Christmas pageant. The Christmas story was read in front of stained-glass windows from the stage preceding the enactment of the angels appearance to the shepherds. The Nativity scene was highlighted by solos and songs by the members of the marching choir. The music died away in the distance as the choir marched from the auditorium into the hall singing, "Joy to the World"; then three angels appeared before the windows as strains of "Angels We Have Heard On High" were heard from the hall.

The pageant, which was presented four times, was open to the public. The large attendance at all performances verified the fact that people enjoy the beautiful Christmas story.

The pageant was directed by Mrs. Miriam Perry, Forrest Davidson, and Glenn Matthews.



LIGHTED CANDELABRAS and stained glass windows gave the stage a church-like atmosphere as Darrell Simpson read the Christmas story.



STARTLED SHEPHERDS marveled at the appearance of white-robed angels who sang of the glorious birth.

SILHOUETTES were made of the candidates to be used as part of the decorations. Miss Marie Brown helped the committee with this project.

Dance of the Sweethearts Held Early in February

Strains of romantically popular songs started couples dancing to the music that was furnished by the Hoisington band under twisted red and white streamers that decorated the gym for the annual Sweetheart Ball held on February 7.

The crowning of a king and queen was the main event of the evening, and curiosity hit its peak before the final results of the voting were known. Robert Blazer, assisted by Candy Tate and Bill Jeter, who served as crownbearers, crowned Linda McDowell and Darrell Simpson, King and Queen of the Sweetheart Ball.

Sweetheart cookies and bubbling red punch were served from the gaily decorated refreshment table. Queen Linda and King Darrell then reigned over the dance until the last note was sounded, and Father Time sent the couples on their way.

WALTZ, JITTER-BUG, and the top hit-tunes of the day were furnished for the evening's dancing entertainment.

THE FRIENDLY Spirit was spread to the lower halls as the friendliest four stopped to talk to to group of underclassmen.

A Foursome Elected As Friendliest

The four friendliest students were elected by the student body by popular vote for their winning personalities and their friendly attitude in the halls and classes. This annual election was sponsored by the Guidon staff as the major project of the friendship issue through which the names of the winners were disclosed.

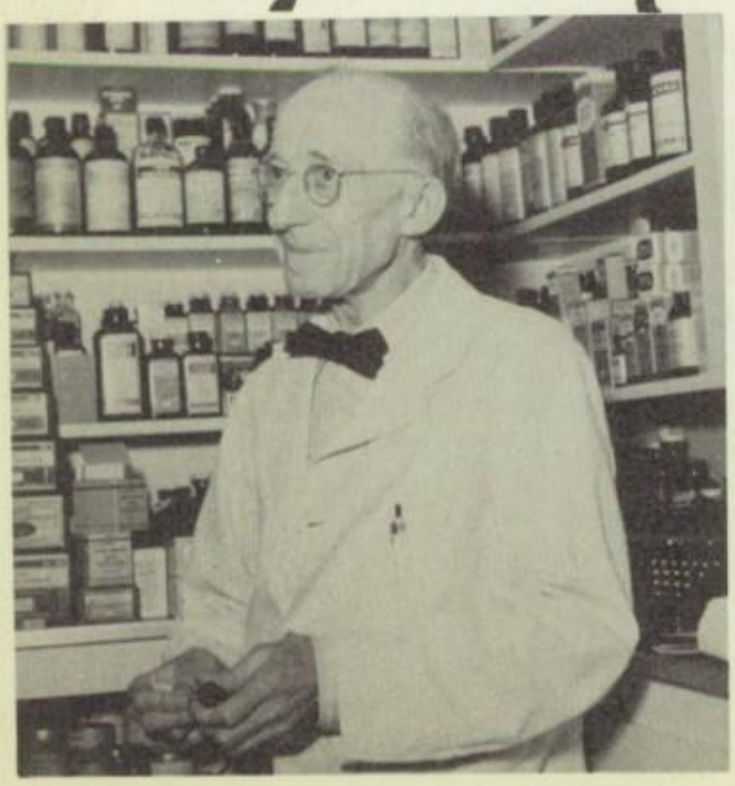
THE BOARD OF EDUCATION studied the financial books of the school system at their regular Monday night meeting. Seated: E. J. Dreiling, president; Jack Drees, vice-president; Clyde U. Phillips, clerk; and D. B. Simpson. Standing: William Toepfer, Paul Ward, and C. L. Mann.



C. A. HARKNESS, treasurer, filled a prescription for a customer at his place of business.

EDUCATION IS AN INVESTMENT IN THE CHILDREN

With 388 assembly seats to accommodate approximately 500 students, these six men and Superintendent Clyde U. Phillips, clerk of the board, saw the necessity for a new addition to the high school building. They spent hours of time on planning how to finance the project, approving the architectual plans, educating the public, and answering the questions of laypeople on ways and means in which the money could be raised. On September 30, their efforts were rewarded by the passage of the high school bond. This was only the beginning. The rest of the year was spent in selling the $430,000 in school bonds which was added to the $20,000 in the building fund making a total of $450,000 for the high school building program. Studying and approving blueprints, letting contracts as well as managing the usual routine job of running a $400,000 business constituted the work of the board of education.

C. A. Harkness, who is not an official member of the board, has held the elective office of treasurer for the past 26 years.

CLYDE U. PHILLIPS, superintendent, is proud of his professional library which is found in his office.

Building Is Again Necessary

Twenty-two years ago Clyde U. Phillips came to Hays High School as superintendent of schools. In 1939 he supervised the adding of ten classrooms, a 60 x 80 foot gymnasium, two music rooms, a manual training room, a metal shop, a vocational agriculture room, and offices to accommodate the administration. Again he has seen the enrollment of the high school outgrow its physical capacity. By 1954 seven new classrooms, additions for auto mechanics and metal shop, vocational agriculture, arts and crafts, a lunchroom, and an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,000 will be added. Mr. Phillips also finds time to manage the operation of the largest business in Hays—the public educational system. He believes that education is an investment in the children of Hays—the safeguard of democracy.

THE OFFICE GIRLS performed the duties necessary for the efficient running of the school system. Seated: Misses Alta Nulton and Lorene Rohr. Standing: Mrs. Nell Samuelson.

ALOIS MILLER, head custodian, kept the heating plant in first-class condition.

CHARLES SEITZ AND DON MILLER helped to keep the building clean.

CLARENCE MILLER kept the snow off about 2,000 feet of sidewalk this winter with the aid of the snow plow.

CLYDE W. ROTHGEB, junior-senior high school principal, signed the correspondence for the day.

Rothgeb and Massey Operate School System

The most difficult task in modern school operation is working in an overcrowded building; yet, Clyde W. Rothgeb, principal of the junior-senior high school, and A. K. Massey, principal of junior high school, have successfully completed the year of '53 without neglecting a single phase in the program of modern education. Helping with the details were the office girls, Mrs. Nell Samuelson, Misses Alta Nulton, and Lorene Rohr. Keeping the building in good condition for the successful operation of a school year were Alois Miller, Clarence Miller, Charles Seitz, and Donald Miller, custodians.

Curriculum Is Offered to Answer Students Needs

The prescribed course of study offered to students includes the important academic and traditional courses as well as the progressive courses. The enriched curriculum includes business education with Misses Alta Behrens and Alpha Elting to carry out the preparation and placement of students on initial jobs. Courses relating to jobs as a clerk typist, bookkeeper, secretary, and salesman are offered. Students may take up any of the vocational courses for personal use, if he so desires.

MISS ALTA BEHRENS demonstrated the wrapping of packages before the retailing class.

MISS ALPHA ELTING, business education instructor, demonstrated the use of the mimeograph for her advanced typing students.

MISS BLANCHE BLOXOM repaired damaged books in the library for continuous circulation.

MRS. EDNA CODER, English I and journalism instructor, discussed grammatrical construction in journalism class.

Communication skills are built in the English department under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Perry, Mrs. Helen Hundley, Miss Doris Starliper, Mrs. Edna Coder, Miss Blanche Bloxom, and John Sipe. Five years of English are required for graduation in the junior-senior high school setup. The development of skill in oral communication is built in speech and dramatics. Juniors and seniors interested in increasing their skill in writing enroll in journalism. The "Guidon," a bi-weekly paper, is published by this class. To encourage extensive reading, a good library of 8,020 volumes representing a wide spread of interest is maintained by the librarian.

MRS. HELEN HUNDLEY, English II and Latin teacher, unlocked the door to her room.

MRS. MIRIAM PERRY, English III and Spanish teacher, went over her lesson before class.

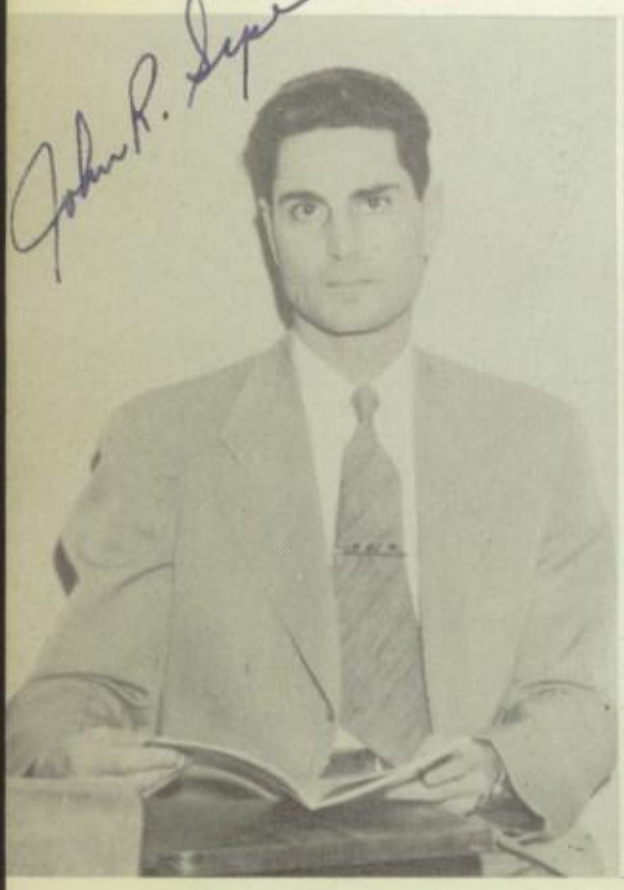
Courses for College Preparation Are Traditional

To aid in laying a foundation for college work, the curriculum includes two years of Latin taught by Mrs. Helen Hundley and Spanish taught by Mrs. Miriam Perry.

Necessary to the financial status of all people is the ability to use the fundamentals of arithmetic. Three years of mathematics are required of students entering in the seventh grade. Higher mathematics are offered to students who have a special interest in this field or who desires to go to college. These courses are under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Harris and Miss Marie Brown.



JOHN SIPE, junior high English teacher and coach, glanced through a professional magazine during the noon hour.

MISS DORIS STARLIPER rested before the attractively decorated mantle in her home before the Christmas holidays.

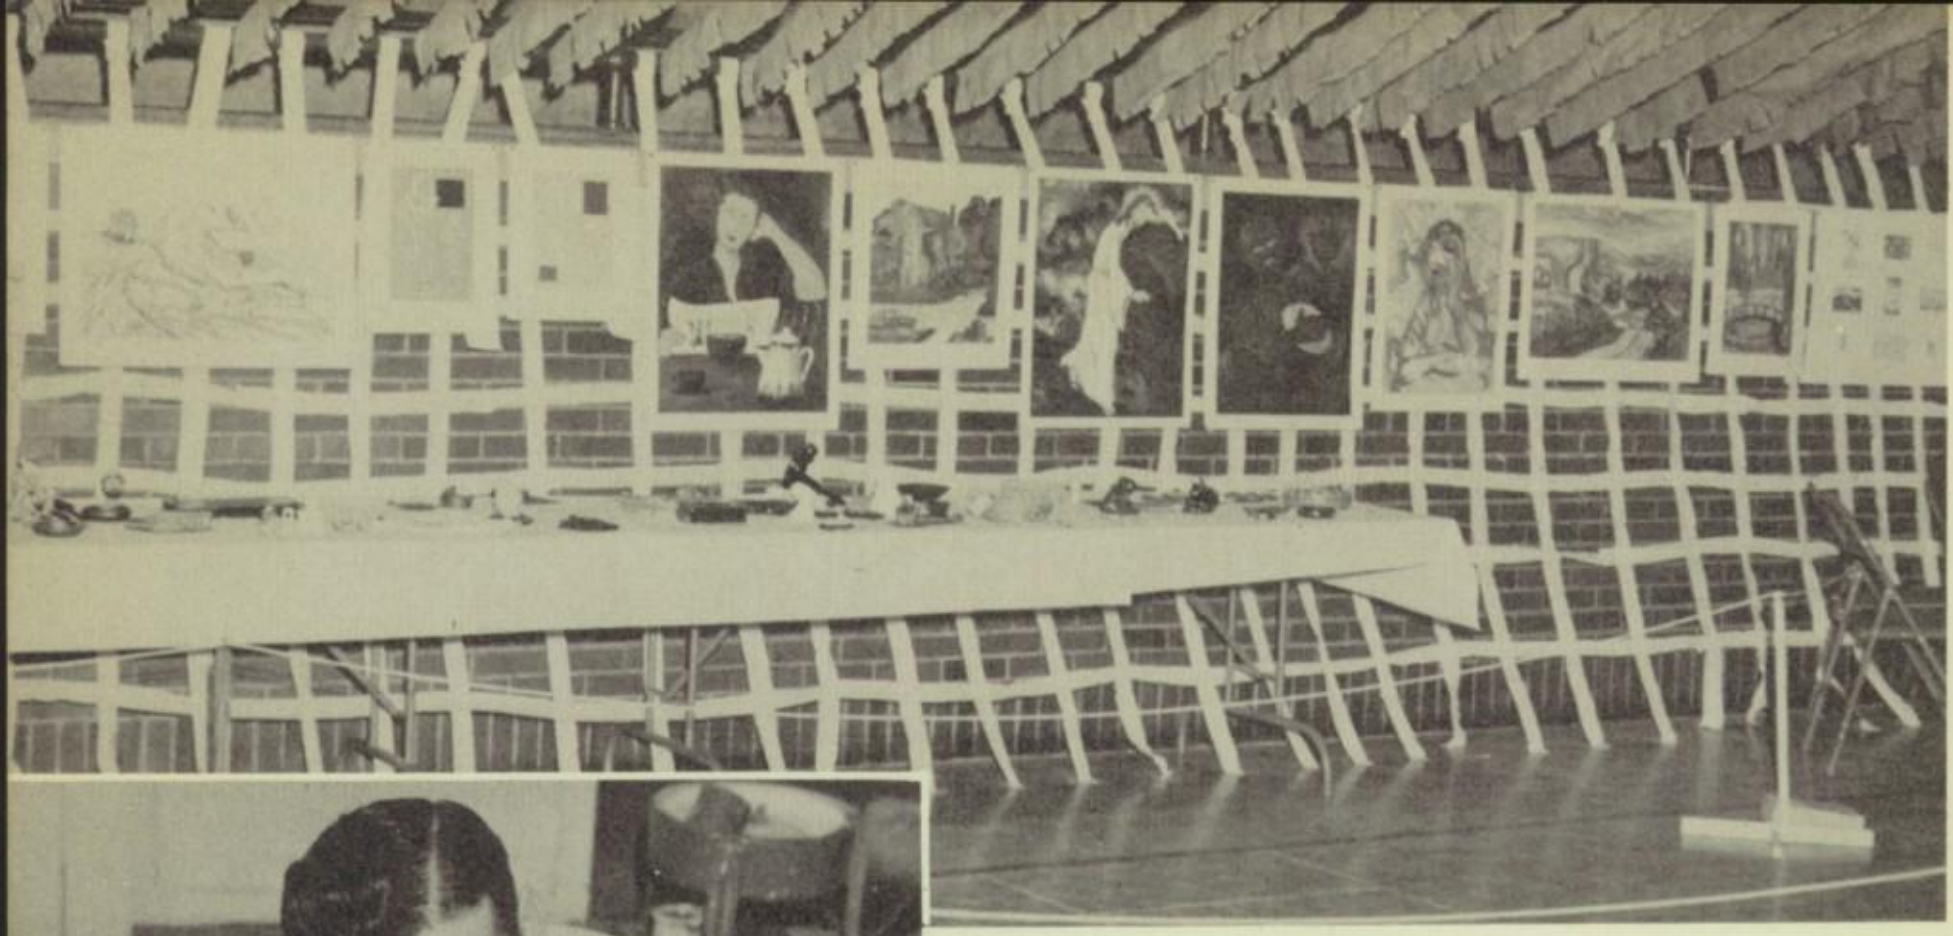
MRS. RUTH HARRIS, junior high mathematics instructor, looked up from checking papers, a part of the teaching profession.

CONSTRUCTING A NORTH-SOUTH LINE by the use of the sun was the field project of the geometry class under the supervision of Miss Marie Brown.

MISS MARIE BROWN, mathematics instructor, paused before the shelf of geometric figures which aid in the teaching of mathematics.

FORREST DAVIDSON paused after an hour rehearsal with the A Cappella choir.

MRS. LUCILLE FLICKINGER, instructor in the instrumental music department, stopped in the office for her mail.



THE PAINTINGS AND POTTERY made in the art classes, under the direction of Glen Howerton, were on display with the industrial arts projects in May.

GLEN HOWERTON demonstrated in the craft class the use of the potters wheel.

A well-rounded curriculum includes the fine arts. Under the direction of Glen Howerton, craft as well as creative art is available for students. Under the direction of Forrest Davidson, those students interested in music have an opportunity to join either large or small vocal groups. The pep of the sports program is founded in the work of Glenn W. Matthews and his pep band organization. Also included in the music department are the concert band and orchestra directed by Glenn W. Matthews and Mrs. Lucille Flickinger. Any student desiring to play an instrument is given the opportunity of private lessons.

GLENN MATTHEWS, band instructor, took time out to have his picture taken.

MRS. ELIZABETH CLEMANS did the routine checking on absenteeism by telephone.

THE BASKETBALL BOYS found that school for them started at eight o'clock with a chalk talk by the coach, Art Leas.

Physical Health Is Necessary

Since building a healthful body is of major importance, both boys and girls are required to take physical education through their high school days. Miss Hilma Shuss and Arthur Leas direct these activities in a well-rounded program. Also important to the health program is the work of Mrs. Elizabeth Clemans, the school nurse.

In this atomic age the study of science is an educational requirement. Biology, chemistry, and physics are offered under the leadership of Harold Elder. One year of science is required of all high school graduates.

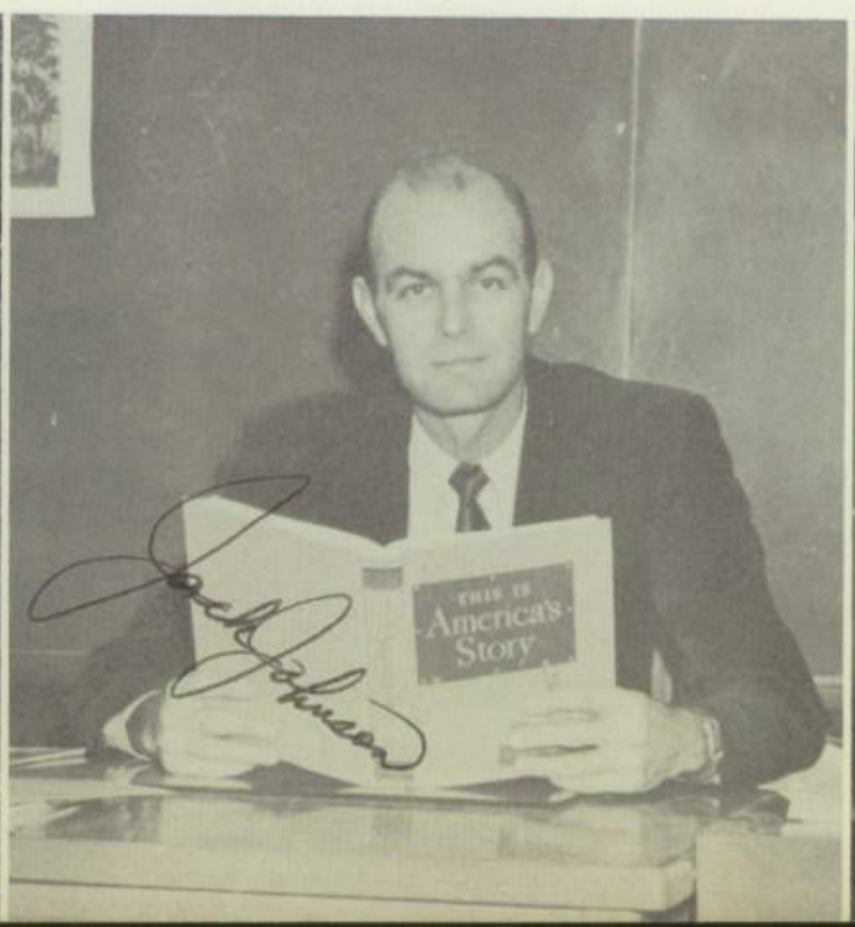
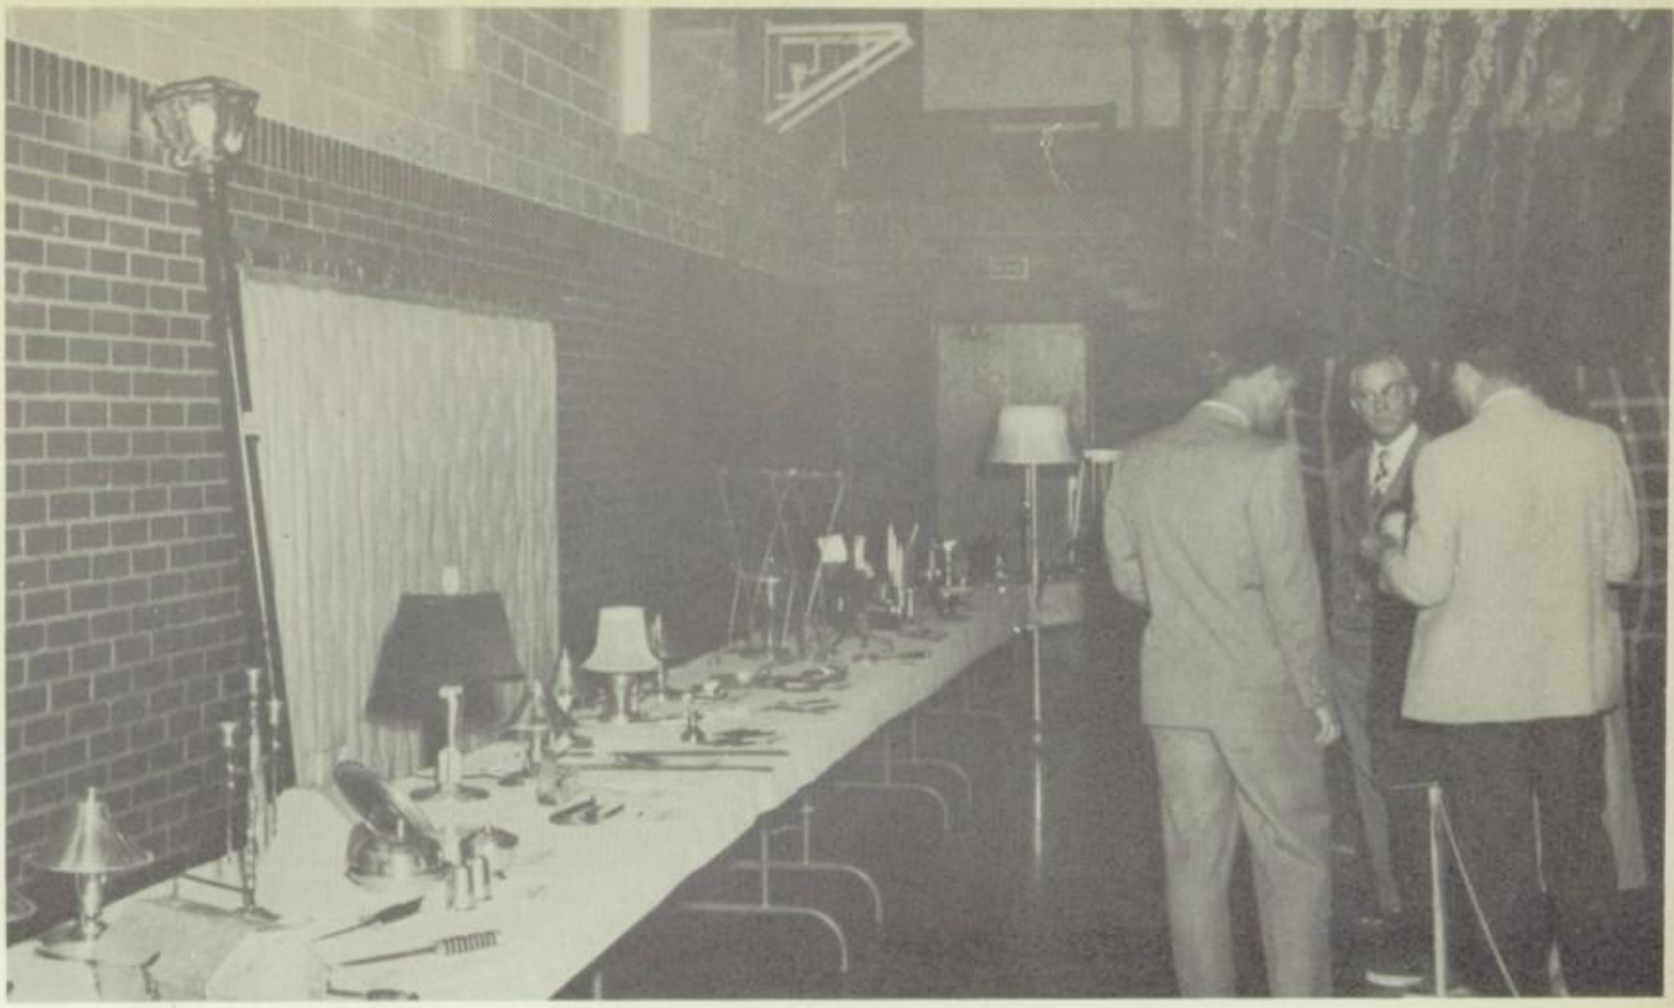
Understanding and getting along with people is the major objective of social science. Three years of social science are required of the junior senior high school student. In this department is Robert Jones, Fred Venditti, Elmer Johnson, A. K. Massey, and Robert Blazer. Besides the traditional history and constitution classes, the curriculum includes classes in sociology, economics, and driver education. The school provides a training car for students to put into practice the theory studied in safety driver education classes.

ROBERT BLAZER, social science teacher, returned to the school building from his outdoor driver training class.

ELMER JOHNSON, social science teacher and track coach, studied the lesson in world history before the class arrived.



ROBERT JONES led the discussion in sociology class.



DENNIS MCKEE discussed his metal shop display with interested patrons.

Education in Building Homes is Provided

Establishing a home is of primary importance to the youth who graduate from high school. To help the girls become better homemakers, home economics courses are offered by Miss Kathryn Ratzloff. To help the boys become better providers, classes in shop, industrial art, and vocational agriculture are offered. Dennis McKee, Edward Schukman, and Robert Britton co-operate in teaching this division of the Hays High school enriched curriculum.

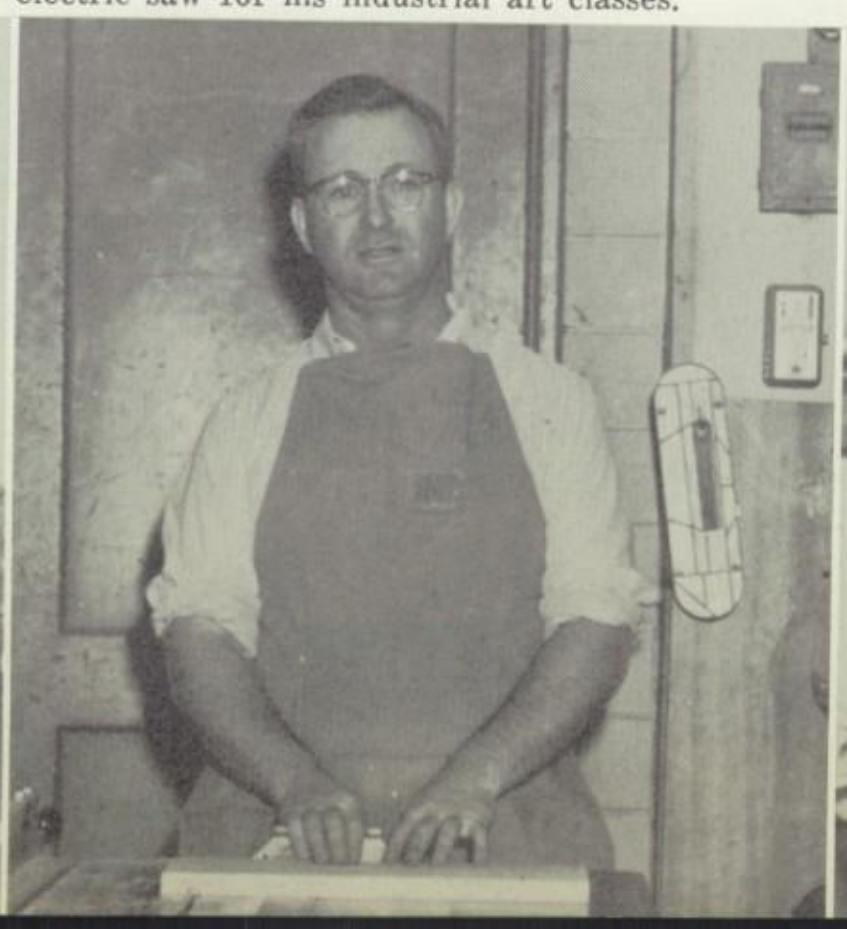
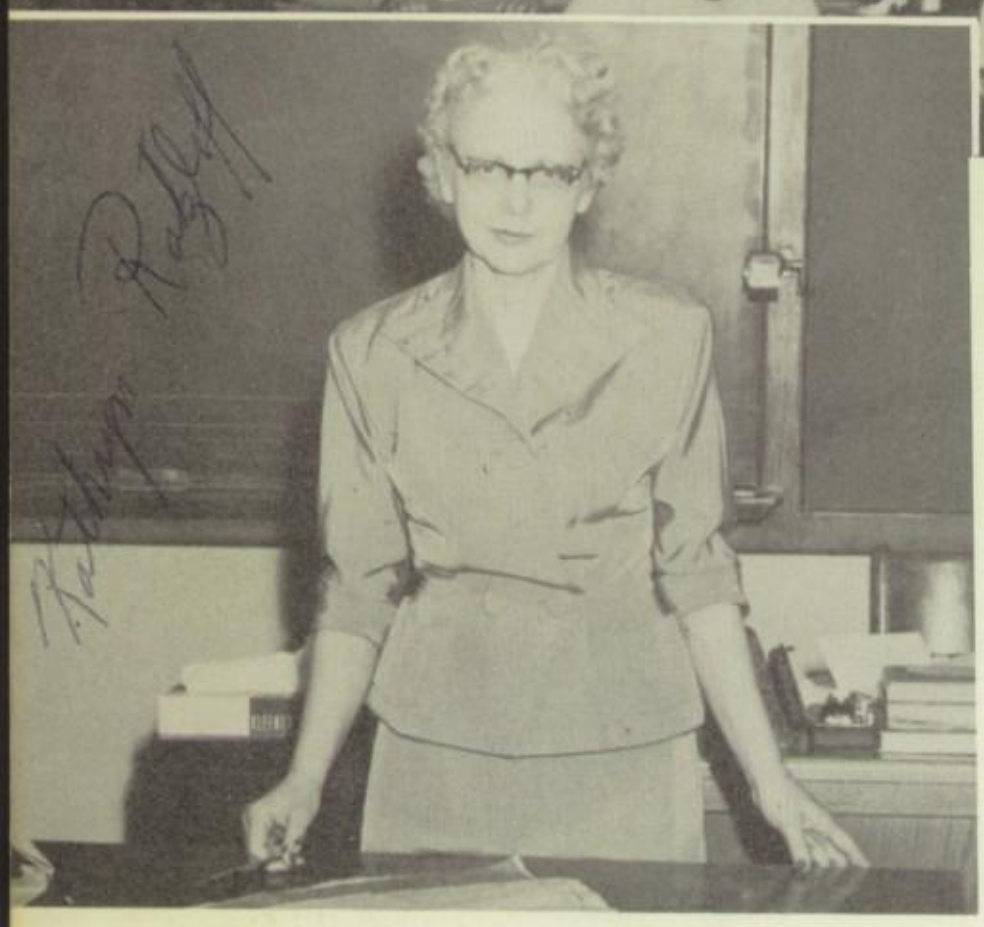
FREDERICK VENDITTI, guidance director and American history teacher, studied the individual file of a student preparatory to a private conference.

ROBERT BRITTON demonstrated the use of the electric saw for his industrial art classes.



DENNIS MCKEE, football coach and metal shop instructor, found office work was also a part of his job when the superintendent and principals were out of town.

THE SIXTH HOUR home economics girls learned to make their own garments under the direction of Miss Kathryn Ratzloff.



MISS KATHRYN RATZLOFF, home economics instructor, demonstrated the use of a dress pattern for the sewing students.

Adequate substitute teachers help to keep the school program running smoothly. Mrs. Harold Elder is available and well qualified to fulfill this difficult task.

Since education is a process of living as well as a preparation for future living, the school provides for an active social life as well as the traditional classroom activities. The curriculum is so established that it develops the whole student and not a partial efficiency in a particular occupation. Education is a wise investment in children, the building of future citizens.

EDWARD SCHUKMAN, vocational agriculture teacher, tested soil.

MRS. HAROLD ELDER, a dependable substitute teacher, had very few days away from the school room this year because of illness in both the high school and grade school faculty.

Active Lauren Welch was chosen for the month of October. Athletically inclined, and president of the student council, Lauren was kept busy with the various activities around the school.

Friendly Eugene Gross attended the meetings during the month of November. Active in dramatics, music, and student council work, and as president of his class, Eugene was kept busy throughout the year.

Studious Darrell Simpson, active in athletics, student council work, and music was selected for the month of December.

Energetic Wesley Wikoff received the honor for the month of January. Wesley was associated with the music and athletic departments and took part in several school organizations.

Athletic Darrell Munsell represented Hays High during the month of February. Darrell excelled in football and basketball, and took part in many of the school organizations.

Courteous Carl Scott was seen going to the meetings during the month of May. Carl was an active member of the courtesy committee, the traffic squad, and took part in the vocal music department's activities.

Conscientious Kenneth Cook met with the Rotarians during April. As president of the lettermen's club and the KAY club, Kenneth was kept very busy throughout the year.

Industrious Charles Evans enjoyed the meetings during the month of March. In dramatics, music, and F.F.A., Charles played an active part.

A.A.U.W. Selects A Musician

Energetic Polly Palmer received the American Association of University Women's award at the garden party on April 28. Each year the local group of A.A.U.W. honors a senior girl selected by the faculty for her leadership, character, and service.

Polly has been very active in music throughout her high school days. This year she was director of the pep band. For the past two years, Polly has been drum major for the marching band. She has taken part in both vocal and instrumental music. Polly also ranked high scholastically.

D.A.R. Chooses Good Citizens

Representing outstanding citizenship in the class of '53 was Marie Elder. She was nominated by the members of the senior class and selected by the faculty for her dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. Marie participated in the good citizenship contest sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Industrious and vivacious was Marie throughout her six years in Hays High. She was president of the art club and one of the key award winners in the regional National Scholastic Art exhibit. Marie was active in decorating for the dances throughout her senior high school days. She also took part in vocal music and was an honor student in academic work.

. . . Catches Seniors Preparing for Graduation

SENIORS GRADUATE INTO LIFE

Excitement ran high in the halls of Hays High, October 1, 1952. The seniors had received their rings—the first class to accomplish this attainment during the first semester.

"Oh! Don't touch my back!"

"My legs are burned so badly I can hardly walk."

"I'm glad this day comes only once during high school. I don't think I could stand to go through the results again."

These were a few of the remarks heard in the halls the day after the annual senior trip, May 11. Despite all the aches and pains as a result of a sunburn, every senior had an enjoyable time.

The seniors presented an opera, "The Old Maid and the Thief" by Giancarlo Menotti in the middle of January.

Baccalaureate was held Sunday afternoon, May 22 and graduation followed on Thursday, May 28 with President M. C. Cunningham of Fort Hays Kansas State College as the speaker.

MAIN SPEAKERS for the evening chatted as they enjoyed the southern meal.

Garden Reveries Highlights the Spring Events

"Put on your southern charm, grab your southern drawl and let's spend an evening dining and dancing 'neath the old southern sky." Thus the atmosphere for the Junior-Senior prom was created. Fragrant magnolias, rose-covered trellises, and an old southern mansion gave real feeling to the gym where the juniors entertained their guests in a southern garden. Colored servers served the delicious meal of southern fried chicken and the traditional trimmings.

Lauren Welch acted as master of ceremonies. Eugene Gross welcomed the guests to "Garden Reveries," and Richard Baker responded with "An Evening In The Garden." Toasts were given by Darrell Simpson, Julienne McCartney, and Frederick Venditti.

The gym was cleared after the banquet and the guests enjoyed dancing to the mellow strains of Freddy Joe's orchestra. In one corner of the garden, the Parent Teachers Association served punch to the thirsty dancers from a cabana table. Midway in the activities, the High School Dance Band entertained the guests and the Girls' Trio sang "Shortnin' Bread." At twelve midnight, the festivities ended and the '52 prom became just a memory.

LIFE

. . . Pauses with Hays High Students

Junior Class Puts On The Prom

"Shut the gym door! Please, someone close the gym door. We don't want the theme to be known before Saturday evening."

"Stapler! Stapler! Who has the stapler? We need more and better staplers."

"I'll be making crepe paper flowers in my sleep. Never before have I made so many flowers!"

The Junior-Senior Prom was the big event in the life of the Juniors. There was much decorating and preparing for the banquet and dance.

The Junior class play and concession rights helped finance this big undertaking. Many helpful and willing Juniors spent hours selling candy, pop, and hotdogs during football and basketball seasons.

Research themes in English III had to be written during the second semester. All in all, the Junior class members found the year full of fun and work.

SOPHOMORES, Tommy Gilmore, Bonnie Rogers, Peggy Johnson, Barbara Richards, and Larry Marshall with the help of Mrs. Helen Hundley spent many hours studying and writing their autobiographies.

Sophomores Write Autobiographies

The first project in English II, an autobiography, seemed to stump most of the sophomores. This meant digging up old records of the past for the first chapter on ancestors.

The chapter, "Pre - school days," brought to light many unheard of incidents. The time he walked down the block and his mother was anxiously looking for him. The time she opened a grocery store but had to eat her own mud cakes.

Grade school days were more recent so this chapter flew by. She remembered the time her shoe was hidden by some member in the class.

On through high school, friends, religion, hobbies, and future, these autobiographies grew. Toward the end of school the chapters were bound into a book. Finally the project in English II was completed and so was the school year.

FRESHMEN: Thomas Mollahan, Marilyn McCartney, Dalline Sullivan, Sue Suran, and Terry Hopkins; enjoyed intermission at the Christmas formal dance.

Freshmen Dance At Christmas Formal

"Guess who kissed me 'neath the mistletoe? That certain someone I've been keeping my eyes on."

Eyelashes were fluttering weeks ahead of time to catch someone's interest to ask for a date to the Christmas formal. Eyes sparkled and cheeks flushed after the freshmen had succeeded in getting dates.

Net, satin, velvet, flounces, stoles, evening bags, and evening shoes were being sought by eager ninth grade girls for their first Christmas formal. For the boys there were the problems of getting the family cars for the evening.

February brought the Sweetheart Ball and once again the freshmen were excited over the privilege of attending their second formal of the year.

Oh! Yes, the freshmen really enjoyed the opportunity of being able to attend the important dances with the upperclassmen.

Eighty-five Band Members Perform At Half-Time

The Hays High marching band, consisting of 85 members, started out the school year by performing at various games, and attending the Fort Hays and Manhattan band days.

The "A" concert band, under the direction of Glenn W. Matthews, gave numerous concerts during the past year—a pay assembly was given for the student's enjoyment and two concerts were given for the public. They also participated in an exchange concert with Larned.

The "B" concert band, under the direction of Mrs. Lucille Flickinger, presented a concert for a junior high assembly.

BAND OFFICERS—Jayne Witt, vice-president; Alberta Sytsma, secretary; Bob Johnson, librarian; Polly Palmer, president; and Pat Moreland, treasurer.

Percussion: Sut Suran, Deanna Whitney, Nova Evans, Jo Lynn Frederickson, and Jan Stewart.

Orchestra Presents Varied Program

The Hays High orchestra, made up of 60 members, were very active this past year. They participated in an exchange concert with Pratt, performed at the Kansas State Teachers' convention and at the city grade school music festival. A spring concert was given for the public in April and the district music festival was attended in May. Glenn W. Matthews, assisted by Mrs. Lucille Flickinger, directed the orchestra.

The final performance of the year was given at commencement with the playing of the traditional march and participation in the program.

Music is a Part of Life

During the past year the senior high music groups gave three assembly programs and participated in exchange concerts with Russell and Great Bend, and sang at the downtown service clubs. "The Ballad for Americans" by Earl Robinson was featured at the winter concert with Eugene Gross, senior, singing the solo role. Selections from "Oklahoma" were featured at the spring concert. In addition to this, these groups participated in the district music festival and were the foundation of the Christmas pageant. A small selected group caroled during the Christmas season at the grade schools and the hospitals. The A Cappella Choir sang at the Baccalaureate Services and presented the "Chambered Nautilas" at Commencement.

"WAKE UP, wake up!" Laetitia and Bob.

The Old Maid and the Thief

"Have you heard? Have you read?" Miss Pinkerton asked Miss Todd as they met on the street. "A terrible thief has fled from the county jail!"

Miss Pinkerton was played by Winifred Fellers. Miss Todd, played by Linda McDowell and her maid, Laetitia, played by Gwendolyn Wynne, were very much alarmed by the description which fit Bob, portrayed by Charles Evans, the young and handsome woman-hating beggar whom the ladies had given shelter for the night.

Laetitia and Miss Todd asked Bob to stay for a week and decided they would tell the neighbors he was a distant cousin who was very sick. Since he was a very handsome thief, Miss Todd borrowed from the church collection and various club funds and gave it to Bob so he wouldn't leave.

The opera came to a climax when Miss Todd and Laetitia broke into a liquor store for him. The town then hired a detective to find the thief. Miss Todd became panicky when the detective started to look for the thief. When Miss Todd left to call the police, Laetitia and Bob collected all the valuables and ran away together.

The senior class opera, "The Old Maid and the Thief" by Giancarlo Menotta, was given March 9. Alberta Sytsma assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Hundsley accompanied the production which was under the direction of Forrest E. Davidson.

"A CHAMBERMAID came to my bedroom!" Bob.

"A THIEF HAS ESCAPED from the county jail!" Miss Todd, Miss Pinkerton, and Laetitia.

LET MISS BROOKS DO IT!

Complications arose fast and furiously when Miss Brooks was forced to take over casting and directing of the senior play. Rhonda, the daughter of the school board president, was determined to have the lead in the play, but industrious Jane was awarded the part. To make matters worse, the only boy to show up for the casting was Ted, the star basketball player. The indignant coach and the dismayed Miss Brooks found that true love didn't run smoothly especially in the life of the present day school program.

"Our Miss Brooks" by Perry Clark was given November 21 as the all school play under the direction of Miss Doris Starliper.

Training Helps Build Voices

Under the direction of Forrest Davidson the junior high music groups participated in three assemblies and helped with the ninth grade class day program. In these groups the foundation was laid for senior high vocal music. From the more settled voices three small ensembles were chosen. Two of these small groups also appeared on the ninth grade class day program.

The junior class presented, on March 26, "Take Care of My Little Girl" by Anne Coulter Martens. Mrs. Miriam Perry, junior class sponsor, directed the production.

The scene of the play was set in Midwestern University to which Liz came following in her mother's foot-steps. "Take Care of My Little Girl" pleaded her mother and this the sorority Queens did. Liz, being brought up in the freedom of high school failed to appreciate the bounds of a sorority, so she walked out.

Playing the roles of Liz and Joe were Kay Hinkhouse and Bill Rhoades, others in the production were Chad, Darryl Kobler; Merry, Pat Moreland; Casey, Marilyn Mermis; Marge, Marthann Burris; Dallas, Sondra Tate; Justin, Maria Cherner; Polly, Bernadine Hammersmith; Marilyn, Carol Shannon; June, Royalynn Law; Thelma, Mary Lee Jobe; Alice, Lee Grubb; Grace, Juliana Leiker; Marie, Jo Ann Hepner; Mother Apple, Patty Bell; Mrs. Bellows, Bette Rhoades; Adelaide, Carolyn Sauer; Becky, Ruth Kirtland; and Sam, Robert Whitney. IF MOTHER ONLY KNEW

On April 24, the junior high presented "If Mother Only Knew" by Donald Payton. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Harris.

The plot developed the incidences that occurred around the twentieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell. Since Mrs. Maxwell was sure that Mr. Maxwell had forgotten it, the three Maxwell children took matters into their own hands and each ordered flowers to be delivered from their father. Dad arrived on the scene and sure enough he had forgotten. A mistaken romance which was cooked up by the children kept the audience in suspense and was highly entertaining.

The characters were: Mrs. Maxwell, Sandra Harkness; Aunt Mary, Sonja Danielson; Connie, Marilyn McCartney; Betty Lou, Barbara Mermis; Bernadine, Karen Oldham; Wilbur Maxwell, Gilbert Kobler; Hercules Nelson, Archie Thomas; Mr. Maxwell, David Mosier; Gladys Gooch, Dalline Sullivan; Charles "Brains" Burke, Roger Bright; Dr. Jeffery Gooch, Denny Lee; and Badge Burns, David Wheeler.

Speech Students Rate High In League

The climax of an interesting year for the students interested in speech and dramatics was the district speech contest held at Fort Hays State college on March 28. These students also attended the West Central Kansas league forensic meet at Dodge City on March 4.

Those competing in the individual entries were: humorous readings by Marilyn Mermis and Grace Reed; dramatic reading, Carl Wells; after dinner speaking, Rex Moser and Steve Flood; original oration, Marilyn Mermis; informative talks, Rex Moser and Denny Lee.

A one-act play, "The Trysting Place," by Booth Tarkington was presented by an excellent cast and received a "I" rating at the meet at Dodge City.

LIFE

. . . Goes to a Basketball Game

Quintet Lead The Pep

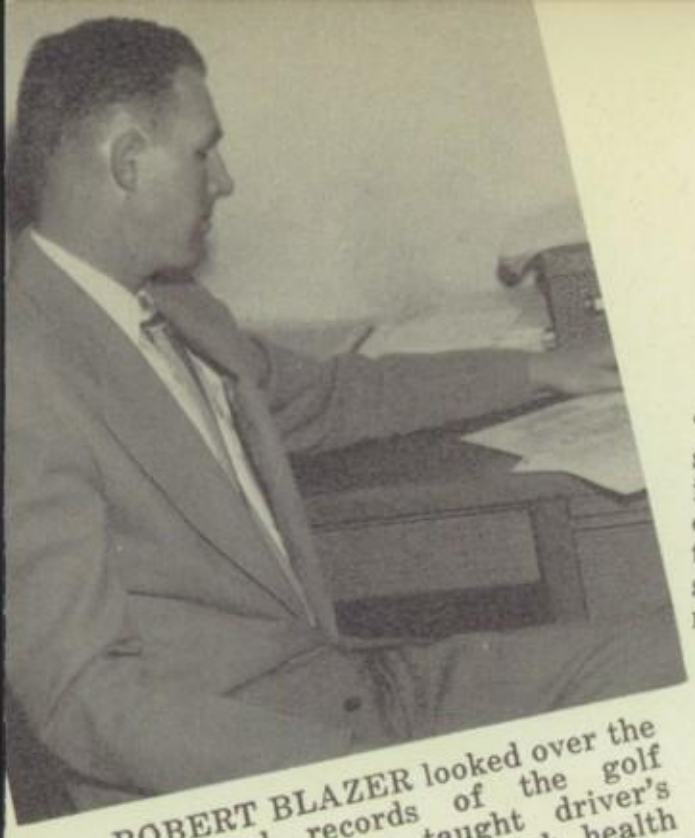
"Fight team fight," was heard echoing through the halls on the days of the basketball and football games. The cheerleaders led the yells at all the pep assemblies. These enthusiastic rooters worked hard to perfect their cheering formations. This quintet was important as a part in the Hays High school athletic program. They kept the boys spirits up as well as upheld the tribal name on the gridiron and basketball court.

Junior high cheerleaders aided during the basketball season by leading the yells at the junior high and B-squad tilts. The senior high cheerleaders wore gold circular skirts and maroon sweaters, and the junior high cheerleaders dressed in gold sweaters and white skirts and trousers.

Royalynn Law, Sondra Tate, Linda McDowell (head cheerleader), Jo Ann Hepner, and Lee Grubb.

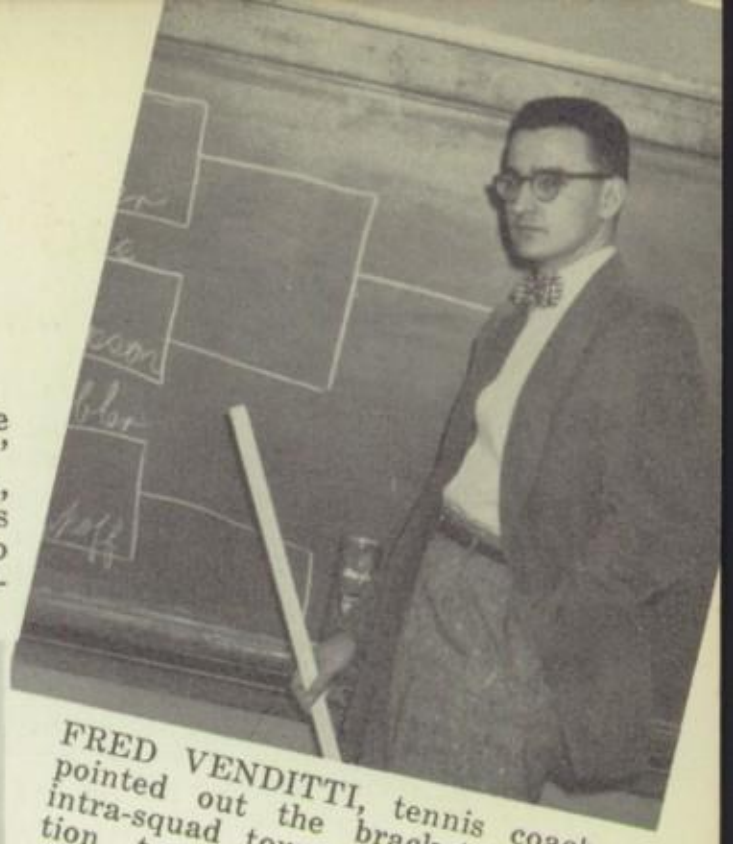
ALWAYS READY TO SUBSTITUTE in case of absence was junior Ruth Kirtland, alternate cheerleader.

Marilyn McCartney, Carol Ann Debes, Larry Benedict, Kay ImMasche, and Judith Carson were junior high cheerleaders.

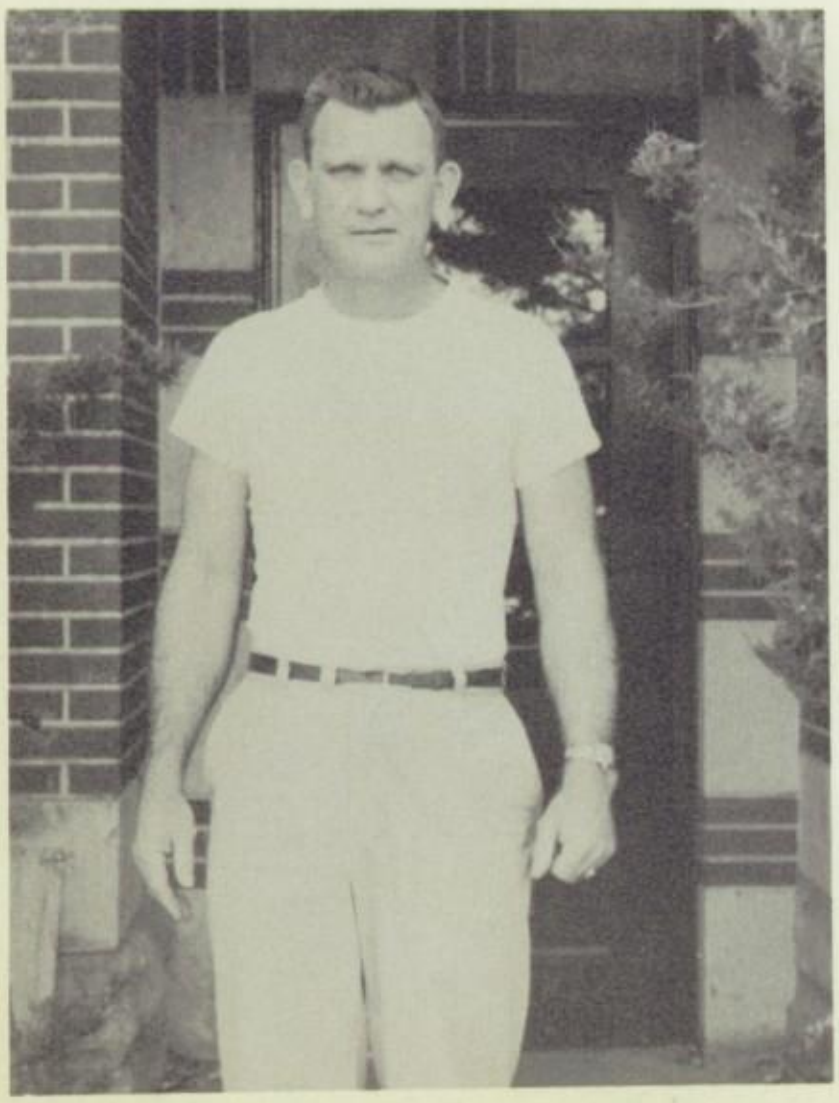


ROBERT BLAZER looked over the individual records of the golf team. Bob also taught driver's education and junior high health and gym classes in addition to coaching golf, Hays High's newest sport.

"JACK JOHNSON prepared to fire the starting pistol at track practice. "Jack," in addition to acting as head track coach, coached the "B" squad in football and was the freshman basketball coach. He also sponsored the "H" Club, a club for lettermen in all sports.



FRED VENDITTI, tennis coach, pointed out the bracket of an intra-squad tournament. In addition to coaching tennis, Fred sponsored the KAY Club, was guidance director, and aided in sponsoring the senior class.



Coach DENNIS MCKEE leaves the dressing room on his way to football practice.

McKee's Warriors Tie for Second Place in W.C.K.L.

The warriors, under the coaching of Dennis McKee, had one of the best seasons in the history of the school as they won seven, lost one, and tied one game. This record put them in a tie with Russell for second place honors in the West Central Kansas League.

The braves started off the season by downing the polio stricken Minneapolis Wildcats, 34 to 0, at Minneapolis. Then they came home to prove that it had been no accident by beating the Great Bend Black Panthers, 6-0. Next McKee's Warriors journayed to Pratt and ran up 26 points to the Greenback's 0, and returned to massacre Ellis, 54-7, before a large homecoming crowd.

It was in the next game that the Indians met their only defeat; that to the hands of the league champion Dodge City by a score of 14-7. The next week the braves came from behind to tie Russell, 12-12. It was in this game that the warriors missed the kicking toes of end, Lauren Welch, who was suffering an ingrown toenail and Darrell Simpson who had a knee injury. Marvin Leiker, halfback, saw little action because of a leg injury; and quarterback, Darrell Simpson with his injured leg played only on offense. However, the Indians snapped back in the next game to win their annual grudge game with the Cadets, 34 to 6. The season ended with a smashing, 49 to 7, victory at Larned. The gridmen racked up 2485 yards to opponents 1539 and made 115 first downs to opponents 63.

The chief ground-gainer was fullback Ralph Pfeifer who could be counted on for a few extra yards when needed or sometimes for a long dazzling touchdown run. Good ball carrying was caused by good blocking. Tackles Joe Ward and Dan Johnson opened big holes through the middle of the line. Ervell Staab, was like a machine when it came to pulling and blocking downfield. Darrell Simpson handled the ball well off the "T" formations and was at the right place at the right time to take out his man on the single wing series. Whenever he chose to throw a pass, ends Darrell Munsell and Lauren Welch were waiting like vultures to pull them in. Both Kenneth Cook and Albert Neylon put the ball in play well from center. On defense Rodney Whitney was like a stone wall in the Indian backfield as was Joe Ward and Dan Johnson, tackles. All in all, the team had a successful season.

Papooses Lose First Game in Four Years

The "B" squad reinforced by the freshmen lost only one game during the season, but this was especially significant since it was the first game a Hays High "B" squad had lost in four seasons of play. The loss was to Great Bend by a score of 19 to 6. Many of the regular first team members were unable to play, though, for various reasons. The junior Indians won five other games, however, to complete a very successful season. The most exciting moment of the season was during the last few moments of the game at Russell when End Marvin Poe snagged a pass in the end zone to defeat the Bronco colts, 26 to 21.

H Club Promotes Sportsmanship

The H Club is a voluntary organization of boys who have lettered in basketball, football, golf, tennis, and track. Under the direction of Coach "Jack" Johnson, the club chose as their year's projects: (1). prohibiting smoking among the boys, especially on the campus; (2). discouraging the wearing of letters from other schools and also the wearing of letters by students who did not earn them; (3). protecting school property, especially at games.

The year was highlighted by the annual "Dad and Son" banquet which was prepared and served by the coaches. The organization is financed by the pop machines which the club maintains for the convenience of the high school students.

Hoopsters Take Fourth In League

The Indian hoopmen started the season off winning four straight games by wide margins, but after Christmas vacation they fell into a slump from which they never quite completely recovered.

In the first game of the season the Indians showed real power as they all but wrecked the Ellis Railroaders, 51 to 31. Then they continued to demonstrate their depth as they downed Great Bend, St. Joseph's, and Pratt before Christmas.

After the holidays, that unlucky number "63" hit as the Indians lost three straight league contests to Larned, Dodge City, and Stafford, by scores of 63 to 48, 63 to 56, and 63 to 59 respectively, before finally winning a March of Dimes benefit contest with Quinter.

Then the Braves fell before the stampede of the Russell Broncos to end the first half of the league season. The Indians managed to win their second match with Great Bend, 51 to 40, looking more like the team which started the season. However, the Braves didn't keep up the pace as they fell before St. Joseph's, Larned, Pratt, and Dodge City. In the next game, a real thriller and probably the highlight of the season, Jim Casper made two free throws in the last four seconds to beat Stafford, 50 to 49.

In the last game of the regular season, the Indians again were no match for the Russell Broncos as they were massacred 57 to 41.

In the district tournament at Russell, Hays drew a bye in the first round but had their coldest night of the season as they lost to La Crosse, 48 to 38, in the semi-finals. Then they beat Ness City, 57 to 51, in the consolation bracket, taking third in district.

B Squad Wins Eleven Loses Four

The "B" squad, had a fairly successful season, winning 11 games while only losing 4. John Floyd was the high scorer of the season for the junior Indians hitting for 121 points. Jim Maska was second with 110.

In the first game of the season the papooses defeated Ellis by a score of 43 to 35. Then they lost to Great Bend 41 to 34 but later in the season beat the Panther cubs 38 to 36. The boys beat the Cadets twice 54 to 33, and 44 to 37, and split with Pratt by winning the first contest 34 to 33 and losing the second 52 to 41. They also split with Larned losing by one point and later winning by nine. They played only one game with Natoma and won it 43 to 30. Stafford was twice the victim of the Indians 51 to 35 and 56 to 44. Once Russell was too much for the Braves to handle, as they lost 39 to 35; but they came back over Russell to win 50 to 40.

Freshmen Win Four Lose Six

The freshmen had a losing season in basketball winning only four while losing six. The most decisive victory was over La Crosse by 40 points, 58 to 18. They also took two decisive games from Ellis, 50 to 26 and 59 to 34. The other win was over Plainville by a score of 38 to 34 who later beat the little Indians, 41 to 25.

The junior high team, coached by John Sipe, had an even season, winning four games while losing four. The junior Braves took third place and got a nice trophy in the Russell invitational tournament to round out their season.

Indians Send Two High Jumpers to State

The defending co-champion Hays High Indian track team fell somewhat short of their 1951 record after losing heavily to graduation. The 1952 team entered in six meets, defeating Great Bend in a dual meet and placing second in the Hays invitational meet. They also participated in the Fort Hays Relays, the W. C. K. L. meet, the regional meet, and a dual meet with Wa-Keeney.

Lauren Welch, pole vaulter, was the most consistent winner, closely followed by Ralph Pfeifer, sprinter, and Keith Swim, hurdler and javelin thrower. Don Neely and "Hank" Pierce qualified for the state meet in the high jump by tieing for third place in the regional meet.

Twelve boys were awarded letters by either winning 15 points in meets or winning one of the first four places in one of the big meets; and participating in five different meets during the season.

Indian Golfers Take Fifth In State

The Indian golfers in their second season of competitive play had a fairly successful season, winning two matches and losing two, one on grass greens to which they are unacustomed. They also placed fourth in the league meet and fourth in the state meet. Golf is Hays High's newest sport and is fast becoming popular among the students. The team consisted of four members and in a match play meet each man played an individual member of the other team. In a medal play tournament each man shot the lowest score he could and the team total was added.

Netmen Take First in W.C.K.L.

The tennis team, coached by Frederick Venditti won only one match while losing one and tieing two. However, they redeemed themselves in the League meet by winning the first place trophy, taking first and second in singles play. Kermit Welch was the "big gun" in the netmen's lineup; but Cap Middlekauff, Kenneth Cook, Darrell Simpson, and Eugene Gross won their share of the matches, too.

The team played four matches, two at home and two out of town. They opened the season by entertaining Dodge City and tieing them, 3 to 3. Then they journeyed to WaKeeney to lose, 5 to 2. A week later they made a raid on the Indians of the Larned tribe and came out on the long end of a 6 to 0 score. In their final match of the season they got some revenge by tieing WaKeeney, 5 to 5.

G. A. A. Adds Trophy to Collection

The 1952 trophy, that occupies a place in display case, was won by the Girls' Athletic Association at the Fort Hays State College sports day. G. A. A. team's representing eight schools competed in badminton, volley ball, and tennis. The Indian Maidens led with 120 points.

G. A. A. was an organization of senior high girls who were interested in sports. These girls met every Tuesday at 4:00 p. m. to participate in volley ball, basketball, badminton, tennis, and baseball tournament; and thus, earned points for the state Athletic awards.

For seven years, Miss Hilma Shuss, girls' physical education instructor, has untiringly given her time to this health-building program. Miss Marie Brown, mathematics instructor, kept the records.

Courtesy Committee Helps Build Goodwill

A big help to the office, faculty, and students were the members of the courtesy committee who were willing to lend a helping hand. At any time during the day, they were called upon to deliver notes, to welcome visitors who came to the building in search of information, and to go on errands. The members ushered at the Kansas State Teachers Association, at school plays, and at concerts throughout the year. Miss Blanche Bloxom selected and advised these students who represented the school.

DELIVERY OF NOTES was a daily task for these two courtesy members—Carl Scott and Gerald Chadd. Miss Blanche Bloxom, sponsor, approved the task.

A Democratic School Is Planned Co-operatively

The student council, governing body of Hays High, is composed of representatives of home rooms who are elected for a term of one semester; the presidents of the sophomore, junior and senior classes; and the student body president, first and second vice presidents, all of whom are elected for a term of one year. Through the efforts of this group, the traditions of the school are preserved and promoted. Besides the usual dances and assembly programs, the council, with the aid of their sponsor, Clyde W. Rothgeb, revised their own constitution and approved the constitutions of three new organizations.

F. B. L. A. Becomes Active Again

Future Business Leaders of America, a national organization, obtained its charter in 1950; however, it was inactive until September of '52 when thirty-four girls interested in developing a stronger relationship between school and business organized under the supervision of Misses Alpha Elting and Alta Behrens. Fourteen girls advanced to the supervisor degree which was awarded to them at a special pinning ceremony.

The year's program was based on introducing the members to businesses and business leaders in the local community which was carried out by visitations and guest speakers. Membership in F. B. L. A. provided each girl with the opportunity to prepare for employment by strengthening and developing potentialities that will lead to employment.

Kayettes, Sister Club of KAYS, Organize

Live "TODAY FOR TOMORROW" is the motto of the newly organized Kayette Club under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Perry. This organization which is the sister club of the KAYS have as their purpose, service to country, state, school, and to the members themselves. Since they got started late in the year, their program was handicapped; however, they did help with the "Food for Holland" campaign. They also sponsored a stag dance, and each and every meeting was an inspiration to the members to LAUGH, LOVE, and LIFT.

"A FRIEND IN NEED, IS A FRIEND INDEED", was the topic of "Winnie" Fellers' speech as she introduced the idea of friendship to the Kayettes.

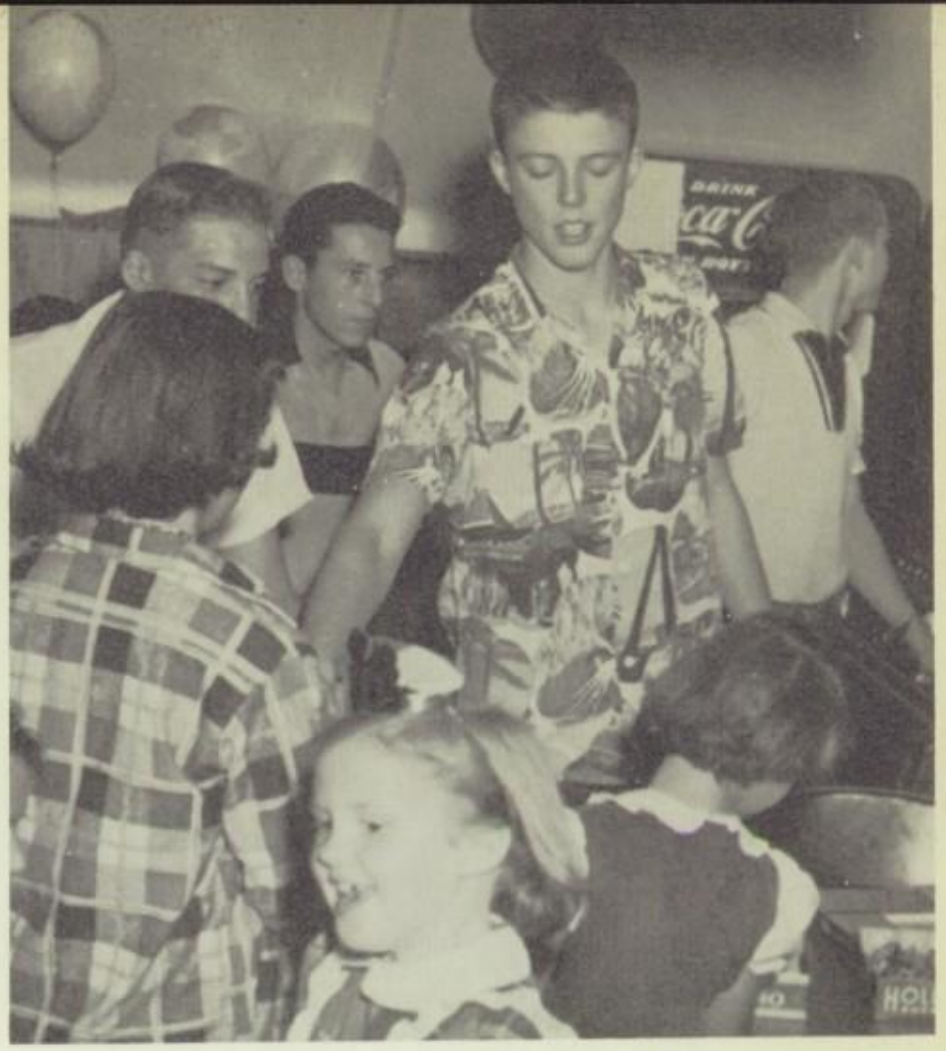
KAY Club Promotes the Spirit Of Giving

"Meals for Millions Campaign" was the well-known project of the KAY Club. By advertising on the radio, in the newspapers, and through community and church organizations, the boys raised money to be spent for people in famine areas.

Other projects of this active organization were keeping the school yard clean, cleaning and shining the trophies, and cleaning the statues of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln in the recital hall. In order to orient the fifth and sixth grade boys, the KAYS sponsored play nights. The social events of the group included a hay ride and a box supper. Thus, the KAY Club successfully fulfilled their objective—SCHOOL, COMMUNITY, AND WORLD SERVICE.



POP, CANDY, AND GUM bought by the people who attended the P. T. A. carnival kept the KAY Club boys busy.

Pepsters Back Sports Events

School spirit was portrayed by the enthusiastic members of the pep club. Under the direction of Miss Hilma Shuss, girls' gym instructor, the pep club members prepared the weekly pep assembly during football and basketball seasons.

Other activities of the year were decorating cars to advertise the games, providing posters for the halls, making pom poms to add color to the maroon-sweatered cheering section, and keeping the team's spirits high with encouraging notes which were occasionally fastened to the individual members lockers.

PEP POSTERS to raise enthusiasm before a game were made by two club members, Patty Bell and Marie Elder.

Thespians Honor Dramatic Students

"Act well your part: there all the honor lies," is the motto of the Thespian club. Membership in this group is not only a reward for meritorious participation in dramatic arts but is also evidence of the student's desire to work among other people. Membership places upon students the solemn obligation of performing even greater work after they have taken the Thespian pledge.

F. H. A. Attend State Meeting

The Future Homemakers of America, a national organization with the goal of learning to live better today in order that the homemaking pupils lives and those of their families may be better tomorrow, was organized this year in Hays High. Their annual Mother-Daughter banquet was held in the spring.

To earn points for the four possible degrees, the members served banquets and lunches for school and community meetings throughout the year. The trip to Topeka to the state F. H. A. meeting highlighted the year's activities.

F. F. A. Have an Active Program

Boys who are in vocational agriculture classes are eligible to join Future Farmers of America. The members attended the judging schools held at Stockton, Hoxie, Oberlin, Norton, the Hays Experiment Station, the Colby Experiment Station, and the Foster farms.

Field trips were taken to the homes of Roy Gosser, Francis Staab, Vernon A. Pfannenstiel, Marvin Pfannenstiel, and Larry Brungardt. Problems of modern day farming were studied at the meeting, and the boys improved their skill in butchering by participation. Instruction in the care and feeding of livestock enriched the year's program.

Character traits to be developed by F. F. A. membership are leadership, cooperation and citizenship.

Trojans War Serves As Theme of J. C. L.

The Junior Classical League, a national organization, had as its main purpose for the year the furthering of information of the Latin language and culture. Membership was open to former and present Latin II students. Mrs. Helen Hundley, English and Latin instructor, sponsored the organization.

The climax of the year's activities was the annual Latin banquet which was served in traditional Roman style. The club's yearly program was built around the Trojan War. This theme was carried out in the biweekly meetings, the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month.

MEMBERS OF LATIN I, Barbara Fellers, Roger Nelson, and Bonnie Rogers served Toastmistress Marilyn Mermis, and Sponsor Mrs. Helen Hundley while other guests enjoyed the antics of the rest of the slaves.

COLORFUL SPANISH ADS in Spanish magazines, provided the subject for Jeanne Shade's talk.

Mrs. Miriam Perry, advisor; Linda McDowell, president; Dean Neal, treasurer; Virginia Ward, secretary; and Jeanne Shade, vice-president.

Students Promote Interest In Spanish

The strains of "La Golondrina" filled the air as the Spanish club sang for the language instructors at the teachers meeting in Hays. It was the first activity of this new organization.

To accomplish their purpose—promoting interest in the Spanish language—the El Circulo Espanol sang Christmas carols and birthday greetings. A typical Spanish meal, held at the home of Mrs. Miriam Perry, climaxed the year's activities.

J. I. M. Provides Social Life for Girls

A very active club of the junior high was the Junior Indian Maidens. They sent boxes to Europe during the Christmas season and carried out the Christmas spirit by caroling and giving treats to the children in the hospitals. Social life throughout the year consisted of the watermelon feed, the talent show and style show, the Halloween masquerade, Father-Daughter box supper, and the Irish Teepee. The year was climaxed with the annual Mother-Daughter banquet in the spring.

Dear Sandy—

It's awfully hard to say everything you feel in a year book but one of these bright days you will be saying good-bye to all the little kids, too. I still have one more year to go but I'm sure it will be loads of fun. Loads of luck to you when you are in senior high + make the best of your high school days.

Love ya —

THE LONG NOON WAIT

Waiting for the bell was a boring pastime for students who left the building during the noon hour and were not allowed to return until the doors opened at 12:45 p.m. During cold and stormy weather, soft-hearted teachers could not stand to see the students shaking outside the door; so they admitted them to the hall. Here on the steps were found the usual group waiting on the steps for permission to move into the halls. This traditional step-sitting scene will probably disappear with the installation of a school cafeteria which is in the plans of the new building project which was started this year.
